EARLY LEARNING TEACHER RESIDENCY

Are you interested in a career in K-5 education? Are you considering options to work, graduate from college debt-free, and enter a meaningful career? If you are interested in employment serving a diverse student population while earning your teaching credentials from Austin Peay State University (APSU), the Early Learning Teacher Residency Program (ELTR) may be an option for you to consider.

ELTR residents will earn a bachelor's degree from APSU in three years by taking approximately two classes per semester with no out-of-pocket expenses. During this time, residents will also serve as full-time Clarksville-Montgomery County School System (CMCSS) employees at one of four Title I elementary schools as teacher residents/educational assistants. Upon successful completion of the residency requirements, candidates are guaranteed a position as a CMCSS teacher.

Space is limited for the 2019-2020 cohort.

Entrance criteria for classified employees:

- Interest in serving as an exemplary teacher in grades K-5.
- Committed to working full-time in CMCSS for three years as an educational assistant while taking classes, and three additional years teaching upon graduation.

Application process:

This application is due Wednesday, April 10, 2019. Promising candidates will be contacted for interviews. Those selected will receive assistance and support with the APSU application process.
